Diversity of School System in India

India has a unique education system with several national, international, and state education boards. Also, Indian education boards are initiating amendments to cater to the different requirements of the children.

- Indian School Certificate (ISC)
- Secondary School Certificate (SSC)
- Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE)
- National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS)

Diversity is everything that makes people different from each other. This includes many different factors: race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, socio-economic status, ability, age, religious belief or political belief. If you ignore the issue of diversity in the classroom and choose to not promote diversity in your school, you're not doing your job.

Children go to school to be prepared for the workforce, so teaching must effectively address and embrace the realities that come with living and working in a diverse school, community and country. Diversity in the classroom doesn't just improve social skills; it can also have an impact on academic results. It improves critical thinking skills and encourages academic confidence.
