PRINCIPAL'S COMMUNIQUE

“Aim for success, not perfection. Never give up your right to be wrong, because then you will lose the ability to learn new things and move forward with your life. Remember that fear always lurks behind perfectionism”

Positive Teacher - Student relationship help students meet their needs. Teachers offer feedback to students for support their feelings of competence. Teachers who know their students interest and preference and show regard and respect for those individual differences bolster students feeling of autonomy. Strong relationship between teachers and students can dramatically enhance student level of motivation and therefore promote learning. Students who have access to more strong relationship are more academically engaged have stronger social skills and experience more positive behavior. Consistent communication is the most vital element as it serves to create a connection between the two. A positive teacher- student relationship includes empathy, warmth, encouragement, authenticity and respect for student backgrounds. The key to build positive student-teacher relationship are by showing the students that you care them, by developing mutual trust, by considering students perspectives, by practicing constructive discipline, by offering words of encouragement and by getting to know the students family.
